David Atkinson : Lake District with Kids: Full-color lifestyle guide to traveling with children in the Lake District (Footprint - Lifestyle Guides) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Lake District with Kids: Full-color lifestyle guide to traveling with children in the Lake District (Footprint - Lifestyle Guides):

Visitors are nothing new to the Lakes. The romantic poets got there first and spent many a happy hour wandering lonely as a cloud. Alfred Wainwright conquered the peaks and documented them for posterity. But, more recently, a new breed has arrived: families. They have discovered the simple pleasures of holidaying in and around England's largest National Park: tranquil beaches, rugged outdoor adventures and stately, historic properties. Not to mention the hospitality. Fresh food, cozy accommodation and some great local microbreweries for a quiet one once the kids are out for the count. Oh yes, and the best motorway service station in Britain. You gotta love the Lakes.

About the Author David Atkinson is a full-time freelance travel writer based in England's Northwest and a full-time dad to three-year-old Maya. He has taken Maya with him on various assignments in Wales, Cumbria and northern Britain, which lead to articles published in the Observer, Sunday Telegraph, the Express and Wanderlust magazine.
