By C. Fountain
I used 3 different travel guides (Let's Go, Lonely Planet and Fodor's) on a recent trip through Spain and found Let's Go to be the best hand-down for anyone on a budget, student or not. It is not for the traveler who wants to eat at expensive restaurants and stay at 4-star hotels (and can afford to do so). But for those who enjoy travel and don't necessarily have a lot of extra money, Let's Go shows you how to eat well, have a great time, and still pay off your credit cards afterwards. For students and other people in their 20s there is lots of useful information about nightlife and student/youth discounts not found in other guides. I also appreciate the down-to-earth and practical style of this guide. There are not a bunch of glossy color photos of tourist sites - who needs those when you'll be seeing them in person? But there are plenty of accurate maps, well-written commentaries, and information that helps you really get to know Barcelona. I have found this to be true of every Let's Go guide I've seen and this one is no exception.

Very helpful on my trip to Barcelona. I was able to plan all my must-sees ahead of time and ensure that I saw them all. The Let's Go series of travel guides has never failed me!

We used this book almost exclusively to plan our basic points around Barcelona. I purchased it used (read: inexpensively) and we hauled it around during our 3 days in Barcelona. Definitely worth the money.

Let's Go Budget Barcelona is a budget traveler's ticket to getting the most out of a trip to Barcelona—without breaking the bank. Whether you want to stroll through the sculpture garden at Fundació Joan Miró, sunbathe on the sand at Barceloneta, or sip on cava and enjoy the view at Mirablau, this slim, easy-to-carry guide is packed with dollar-saving information to help you make every penny count. Let's Go Budget Barcelona also includes neighborhood maps to help you get oriented, plus eight pages' worth of color photos to whet your appetite for sightseeing. From how to get discount tickets for museums, performances, and public transportation to where to find cheap eats and affordable accommodations, Let's Go Budget Barcelona has got you covered—and it's small enough to fit in your back pocket.
Let's Go Budget Guides are for travelers who want to spend less but have more fun, students with more time than money, and anyone who appreciates a good deal. Let's Go Budget guides are written by Harvard student researchers. And who better than a starving student to figure out how to stretch a budget—and discover what's free and fun along the way?
